

Rethinking the Ink?

Laser Tattoo Removal

Studies have shown that up to 50 percent of people who get tattoos want them removed at some later date. People get rid of tattoos for lots of reasons. Maybe you're just tired of the design or -- whoops - the name or slogan that was once so important doesn't fit your life anymore. You might feel a visible tattoo may hold you back professionally. Whatever your reason, Cavalon Aesthetics has state-of-the-art laser technology to treat single or multi-colored tattoos.

PhotoAcoustic action, high peak power and short pulse duration, hits the target molecule — tattoo ink, pigments or collagen — without harming the surrounding skin. RevLite delivers high energy evenly over the skin's surface which minimizes epidermal injury and actually helps rejuvenate skin.
